DEFENDING OUR DAUGHTERS: MAKE THE PROMISE

Continuing our advocacy for fairness in women's sports, I invite you to join the "Defending Our Daughters" campaign to show support for the Commonwealth's female athletes.

All Pennsylvanians are invited to sign the "I Believe" promise to highlight the rights of girls to have a safe, fair and equal playing field; to compete to win games, championships and titles; to earn scholarships; and to have private locker rooms spaces, without males being present.

The promise also reinforces the shared responsibility of all Pennsylvanians, and specifically the state's leaders, to get off the sidelines to protect and defend female athletes. Since 2020 in Pennsylvania alone, girls have lost medals or placements to boys in at least 66 separate instances — from swimming to fencing to track. That is unacceptable.

House Democrat leadership continues to block three bills that would address this issue by ensuring only biological females can compete in sports designated for women and girls. Let's show them, and Gov. Josh Shapiro, that Pennsylvanians stand with our female athletes.

Sign the "I Believe" promise at defendingdaughters.com or stop by my office for a hard copy.
